Vaccination Services

Our licensed veterinarians provide the vaccinations dogs and cats need for protection against infectious diseases.

Puppy & Kitten Packages

Puppies and kittens need vaccinations to protect them as they start to receive fewer antibodies from their mother between six and eight weeks of age. We offer packages for pets at eight, 12 and 16 weeks.

Veterinarian-Recommended Flea & Tick Products

We offer a variety of veterinarian-prescribed pest control products to combat all types of external parasites, including fleas, ticks, biting flies, mites and more.

Microchip ID Services

Microchipping is a form of identification that guarantees a pet can be easily recognized if separated from its parent. Our services includes lifetime registration.

Heartworm Testing & Treatment

Heartworms are parasitic worms that infect a pet's heart and pulmonary arteries and can be fatal if left untreated. We provide diagnostic testing and veterinarian prescribed heartworm prevention.

Deworming

Deworming services rid pets of intestinal parasites such as hookworms, roundworms and tapeworms.
