Pet insurance helps pet parents handle the unexpected when their beloved pets run into health issues, and we understand that navigating pet insurance choices can be overwhelming.

We never want to see pet parents make difficult decisions or hesitate to make the best choices for their pet's health based purely on cost or confusion.

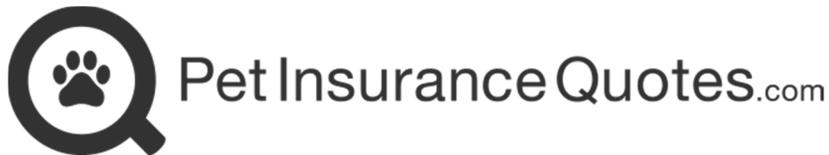

So, together, Petco and PetInsuranceQuotes.com provide pet parents with an efficient way to obtain instant pet insurance quotes and compare coverage options, all while reading reviews and testimonials from major pet insurance companies.

PetInsuranceQuotes.com is the first licensed pet insurance marketplace in the United States, so you can trust us to provide you with accurate and useful information that will enable you to make an informed decision when choosing the best pet insurance for your dog or cat.

To help pet parents seamlessly identify a plan that best meets their needs, the platform brings most major pet insurance companies to the customer, easily organized in one place, including Trupanion, Healthy Paws, Petplan, Pet Best, Embrace and Nationwide.

Benefits of Pet Insurance:

Having a beloved pet means providing the type of care that encourages a healthy and long life, and one of the best ways to keep your pet protected is through a pet insurance policy. Pet insurance helps reduce the fear of massive vet bills so that they aren't a factor when it comes to giving your pet necessary care in the event of injury, illness, or other pet health problems.

PetInsuranceQuotes.com History

PetInsuranceQuotes.com was founded by Nick Braun in 2011. Nick, and his wife Melissa's rescue Labrador mix, Beau, fell seriously ill with a cancerous tumor in 2014.

Thanks to pet insurance, Nick and Melissa knew they could afford any treatment that would make Beau feel better. Pet insurance allowed Nick and Melissa to avoid financial worries during an already stressful time.

Sadly, it wasn't meant to be after many tests, treatments and discussions with oncologists. Beau passed away with Nick and Melissa by his side. They knew they had done everything they could to help him and had no regrets. While in the end they made the right decision not to prolong Beau's suffering any longer, they were grateful for the extra time pet insurance allowed them to have with Beau.

Nick believes one of the best ways to honor Beau is by helping pet parents get the perfect policy to protect their four-legged family member.
